Chief Won't Talk About Gambling

Declines Comment On Bookie

Slots Reappear Outside City

Mansfield Police Chief Jesse Schwab, who announced last Feb. 3 that he had clamped a "permanent" ban on gambling, had "no comment" today on yesterday's News-Journal story pointing out that illegal gambling operations, including a horse race bet booking establishment, are in full swing again.

Interviewed this morning, Chief Schwab sat behind his desk reading a letter and supplying his "no comment" answer to all questions.

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn, the city's chief administrative officer, was out of the city today, reportedly in Cleveland consulting a physician. At the time newspaper reporters were asking about the sudden, mysterious shut-down of all gambling operations last February, Mayor Vaughn also was out of the city.

SLOTS JINGLE

Meanwhile, another open, illegal gambling activity came to newsmen's attention yesterday when a visit to the Richland Driving Range, a mile west of the Mansfield city limits on Route 30-N, disclosed slot machines displayed for use by the public.

A reporter saw three machines on display, the "slots" being designed for playing nickels, dimes and quarters.

The newsman played several nickels into one of the machines and was told by an attendant that the establishment is owned by a man who also operates a poolroom in Mansfield. The driving range is used for practice shots by golfers.

The developments today follow yesterday's disclosure that Max Mosberg has reopened his horse race betting establishment upstairs at 12½ South Main street, which closed about Feb. 1 when Chief Schwab clamped on his "permanent" gambling ban.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Actually, the "permanent" gambling shutdown lasted for eight weeks, as punchboards and poker sheets, which had disappeared from counters of poolrooms, cigar stores, newsstands and "smoke shops' on Feb. 1, reappeared about April 1, and by the end of May the horse race booking establishment was back in business.

The interview of Chief Schwab by a News-Journal reporter went about like this:

Question—You know that illegal gambling operations have reappeared in town.

Answer—No comment.

Q—What, if anything, is going to be done about it.

A—No comment at this time.

Q—Is any action contemplated?

A—No comment.

Q—When will you be ready to comment on the situation?

A—I said no comment at this time; that's English, isn't it?

Cross Dogs Threaten Collectors

Now Mansfield dogs are biting the garbage collectors.

Al Strachan, sanitation superintendent, said today that four garbage department workers have been bitten by dogs during the past month.

"Two of the dogs' owners complied when we asked them to tie up the dogs on the days that the garbage collection crews make their rounds," Strachan said.

"Two others refused," he added, "so we have just stopped collecting the garbage until they comply with our request."

A few days ago Acting Postmaster Curtis L. Ford said several letter carriers had been bitten by dogs, and mail service was discontinued to homes where dog owners refused to confine the animals.

Grand Jury Will Act In Poison Case

Mother Faces Murder Charge

CINCINNATI—(AP)—Mrs. Mary Clay Watts, 43, was bound over to the grand jury on a charge of murder in connection with the poison death of her daughter, Barbara Ann, 11.

The action was taken by Mayor R. Edward Tepe of Norwood, a part of greater Cincinnati, after Loyal Martin, attorney, entered a plea of innocent for the woman. Tepe also is police judge of Norwood.

Martin said no application will be made for bond for Mrs. Watts, who was arrested early Sunday morning.

Barbara Ann died May 15 of mercury and barbiturate poisoning, according to a pathologist report.

Mrs. Watts' arrest at the direction of Prosecutor Carson Hoy followed another report by the pathologist that Willis Watts, father of the girl and husband of the accused woman, also died of poisoning in 1944.

Chief of Norwood Police Charles Fritz said Mrs. Watts answered questions readily yesterday. She evaded giving exact answers to some questions, however, he said, by selling her questioners to "ask my attorney."

Norwood officers and Hamilton county police said they have been unable to trace the source of the mercury or barbiturate. Several leads, they said, have proven false.

Coronet Herbert P. Lyle also has ruled homicide in the death of Mrs. Watt's husband, Willis. A pathologist's report showed his death as caused by arsenic, although it was attributed to uremic poisoning. He had been invalided for 27 months by a trailer accident.

GOP Chiefs Getting Set For Big Show

PHILADELPHIA —(UP)— The Republican National convention arrangements committee met today for last minute adjustment of plans for the big show which begins next Monday.

Advance men for the candidates are on the ground. Each is claiming victory for his man and none is too busy to take a clout at President Truman. Rep. Clarence J. Brown of Ohio, Taft-for-President manager, shucked his coat for a kickoff press conference. He said Sen. Robert A. Taft could come up with 312 votes on the first convention ballot if necessary.

Herbert Brownell, one of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's three campaign managers, countered from his headquarters that the governor would lead on the first ballot. Brownell did not say how many votes his man would have on No. 1.

Chairman Carroll Reece of the Republican National committee opened the ball last night with a radio address denouncing the President.

Journal Buys Site For Plant

Three Properties Bring $239,650

Mansfield is to have a new, modern, up-to-the-minute newspaper plant to house operations of The News-Journal.

This announcement came today from S. A. Horvitz, publisher of The News-Journal, following purchase yesterday of a new building site at a public sale of downtown Mansfield business property which saw a total of $239,650 spent for three business properties.

The real estate was sold by the Citizens Savings and Loan company on the basis of sealed bids in connection with liquidation of the savings and loan firm.

The Journal company, which publishes The News-Journal, purchased the large lot at the northwest corner of West Fourth and Mulberry streets. Sale price was $72,150. The lot fronts 180 feet on Mulberry and West Fourth streets, Weldon avenue and West Temple court. It is considered an ideal location for a newspaper operation.

TWO FOR $167,500

The two other downtown properties offered at the sale yesterday were bought by Stuart M. Weaver, 520 Chevy Chase road, executive vice-president of the Ideal Electric and Manufacturing company. They are the properties at 52 North Main street, at present housing the Citizens Savings & Loan, and at 56 North Main street, in which Kevey, Inc., a women's apparel store, is situated. Weaver bought the two properties on a combination bid of $167,500.

Under terms of the property sale, one of the largest transactions in downtown Mansfield real estate in many years, the savings and loan firm reserves the right to continue use of the building at 52 North Main street for its offices for six months after acceptance of the bid.

The tenant in the other Main street property bought by Weaver (Kevey's) also has the right of occupancy for six months at no change in the present rental, according to the advertised terms of the sale.

PLANS UNANNOUNCED

Weaver told the News-Journal following the purchase that he was associated with several other

Reds Block Berlin Coal

BERLIN —(INS)— Soviet border guards blocked a huge shipment of needed coal bound for Berlin today, reinforced the Berlin radio station and closed the Elbe river bridge at Magdeburg.

The first step hampering communications between Berlin and western Germany was the halting of 140 carloads of coal on the grounds that the cars are mechanically defective.

The coal trains, laden with 1,400 tons consigned to western sectors of Berlin, were stopped at the Soviet checkpoint of Marienborn.

British authorities charged that the Russians deliberately singled out cars destined from the western sectors while giving clearance to all cars on the same trains which were consigned to Soviet-controlled areas.

The Britons added that all of the cars were in the same approximate mechanical condition.

The Elbe bridge closing had been announced in advance, the Soviets claiming that it was in need of "major repairs." It is part of the huge autobahn military road system created by the nazis.

Naval Commander Talks to Elks

Calls For Power To Preserve Peace

The United States must be first in world power to maintain its leadership in the move for world peace, 150 members and guests of the Mansfield Elks lodge were told last night at their annual Flag day ceremonies.

The speaker was Lt. Cmdr. Thomas B. Wright, city councilman and commander of the 195th Division of the Organized Naval Reserve.

"The way to fight aggression," he said, "is for strong nations, such as ours, to help weaker nations resist powers which threaten world peace."

The speech followed formal acceptance by Mayor Roy W. Vaughn of a flag presented to the city by the lodge. An informal presentation was made Monday at 10 a. m. in Central park.

In his acceptance, the mayor discussed the real meaning of the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

Five Boy Scouts, Charles Jones jr., Jim Handley, Marvin Morris, Russell Keck and Russell Barnes, formed a color guard as the flag was raised in the auditorium.

Ted Culler, master of ceremonies for the affair, introduced the lodge officers who then conducted the annual Elks' Flag day ritual.

Participating were O. I. Alverson, exalted ruler; E. C. Geiger, esteemed leading knight; Eugene Funston, esteemed loyal knight; C. H. Jones, esteemed lecturing knight; Mike Mihalick, esquire, and James Jesson, chaplain.

Two quartets, members of the Mansfield chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Singing In America, Inc., appeared on the program.

Finale of the event was the presentation of a new color movie describing the Naval Reserve Officers' Traning corps, recently put into operation in many of the nation's colleges and universities.

$2,107,500 Buys Town

NORRIS, Tenn. — (UP) — The town of Norris was sold on the block today to a group of Philadelphia business men who promised that residents would have a chance to buy the homes in which they live.

The successful bidder was Henry David Epstein. His bid was $2,107,500.

The Norris citizens development corporation, on which residents had pinned their hopes for retaining homes, failed to bid at the sale.

However, Epstein, agent for the successful of two bidders said: "If we are the purchasers we intend to give present residents a chance to buy their homes. We intend to continue the pleasant residential character of Norris. The town will continue as a home for people who work for the TVA.

Death Halts Gertrude Atherton's Pen

SAN FRANCISCO — (Compiled from wire dispatches) — Novelist Gertrude Atherton is dead, victim at last of the years she had so long defied.

As beguiling and as timeless as many of her nearly 60 novels, she had steadfastly refused to grow old—until her 90th birthday, last Oct. 30. Then, at a civic ceremony in her honor, she said she was growing weary and "don't expect to live more than a year longer . . . "

Death came late yesterday at Stanford hospital, where she was admitted May 27 after a light stroke.

A realist who lived always in the present, Mrs. Atherton ignored the polite, ladylike novels of her day—yet her books delighted, as well as shocked, her readers. Her first, "The Doomswoman," appeared in 1892; her last, "My San Francisco—A Wayward Biography," in 1946.

Perhaps the greatest of the many controversies her works created followed publication of her biggest best seller, "Black Oxen," in 1923. Inspired by a poem—"The years, like great black oxen, tread the world"—it was a story of a woman who kept them at bay by rejuvenation treatments.

By her long career as an author, Mrs. Atherton earned for herself the name, "grand duches of American literature."

She was born in San Francisco and she decided at 15 to write. But she gave up that ambition temporarily to marry wealthy George Atherton, who died nine years later at sea. Mrs. Atherton turned again to writing and never remarried.

She left San Francisco and spent the better part of four decades in New York or Europe.

Mrs. Atherton is survived by a daughter, two grandchildren, three great-grandchildren and one great-great grandchild.

Arabs Offer Canton Plan

Back Palestine Confederation

CAIRO—(INS)—The United Nations Palestine mediator returned to Cairo today amid reports that the Arabs seek to divide the Holy Land into regions enjoying self-government but barring a separate Jewish state.

Reliable quarters in Cairo said that the Arabs will press their plan, modeled after the system of Swiss cantons, during talks with Swedish Count Folke Bernadotte who is working for a permanent Holy Land peace.

Under the Arab scheme Jews would have their own domestic autonomy within the territory assigned to them, but not actual statehood.

The Arabs are described as unwilling to go any further toward meeting the Jewish demand that the State of Israel be maintained.

A new victory was won by peace forces in Palestine when Jews agreed to establishment of a convoy check point along the vital Tel Aviv-Jerusalem highway.

The newest agreement was reached as officials in the Holy Land undertook discussions of political issues involved in the Palestine dispute.

Ex-King, Bride In Switzerland

LAUSANNE—(INS)—King Michael of Romania and his bride, the former Princess Anne of Bourbon-Parma, arrived in Switzerland today after spending the first part of their honeymoon in Greece.

Michael expressed the hope that he could take up permanent residence very soon at his villa in Florence, Italy.

Draft Bill Assailed In Debate

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The House started debate on a two-year draft bill today with the chairman of its rules committee calling for defeat of the measure.

The lead off speaker, Rep. Allen (R-ILL), told the House he is sure that arguments during the debate will convince the members "that this is not a necessary or a good bill."

"We all want national security," Allen shouted. "The question is, do we want national security by the American way or by coercion, compulsion, regimentation and control?"

Allen said "the brass hats" claim the nation faces "a great emergency." If that is so, he asked, why do those who profess to be alarmed "say there is no emergency to keep the congress here in session?"

"Voluntary enlistments," Allen said, "have not been given a fair trial."

Despite attacks on the bill, it seemed certain the House will pass it.

PREDICT QUICK ACTION

Republican leaders predicted the bill would be okayed by nightfall. And even the bitterest foes admitted their chances of blocking the measure are practically nil.

It will take more than House approval, however, to start any actual inductions of men 19 through 25.

First, Senate and House conferees will have to compromise minor differences in the two bills.

After that—if the House gets its way on the chief point of dispute—President Truman will have to wait 75 days and then order the draft machinery into motion by a formal proclamation.

Military authorities have estimated they will have to draft some 200,000 men this year and next to reach manpower levels provided for in the bill.

Backs Funds For Defense

WASHINGTON —(AP)— New millions for defense projects in Alaska and for stockpiling strategic war materials were recommended today by the House appropriations committee.

In a $485,065,551 appropriation bill—cut $113,266,544 below the amount President Truman had asked—the committee:

1. Approved $300,000,000 in cash and $300,000,000 in contract authority for the purchase and stockpiling of critical and strategic national defense materials.

2. Granted $32,700,000 of a $40,000,000 request for continuation of army construction projects in Alaska.

3. Approved $47,983,200 in cash and $50,000,000 in contract authority for Navy public works construction, including major defense installations in the Aleutians and Pacific areas.

4. Approved $3,000,000 in cash and $5,000,000 in contract authority for construction of a commercial airport at Anchorage, Alaska.

5. Cut from $900,000 to $600,000 funds for use of the secretary of commerce in carrying out voluntary industry agreements under the 1947 anti-inflation law.

6. Recommended $6,000,000 for emergency flood repair work in the Columbia river valley. Another $500,000 was approved for disaster relief there and elsewhere as it might be needed

The committee also approved $1,915,000 for United States participation in the world health organization, and $25,400,000 to help stamp out foot-and-mouth and other contagious animal diseases.

Pension Boosts Allowed By Bill

WASHINGTON—(AP)—An overridden presidential veto today opened the way to large benefit payments to blind people and dependent children but barred federal old age pensions to some 750,000 job holders.

Mr. Truman objected to the bill on the grounds (a) that the increased benefits were not high enough, and (b) that more, rather than fewer, people should be brought under the social security program.

Solicitor Rules Vote Illegal

Clocks to Stay As They Are

Mansfield's new-born daylight saving time was killed today by a legal technicality.

Three days after City Solicitor C. J. Kalbfleisch announced that under the ordinance approved by a 5-4 vote of council Mansfield would turn its clocks ahead at 12:01 a. m. Sunday, he found a court ruling which nullified council's action.

The disclosure brought surrender from Councilman Harry Hollingsworth in his efforts to have the city join more than 75 other Ohio municipalities on a "fast time" summer schedule.

"As far as I'm concerned, the issue is dead," Hollingsworth said.

The technicality that nullified council's "fast time" vote was the lack of a two-thirds vote approving the "emergency clause" under which the ordinance would have become effective 10 days after approval without the mayor's signature and immediately had the mayor approved it.

COURT OPINION FOUND

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn announced that he would neither approve nor veto the measure.

Yesterday, when the question of the vote needed for approval of an emergency measure arose, Kalbfleisch consulted court interpretations. He found one that appeared to settle the issue.

"After an examination of the laws and court decisions relating to the passage of emergency measures," Kalbfleisch explained, "a 1916 appellate court decision revealed the following:

"An ordinance introduced as an emergency measure, but failing to receive the votes of two-thirds of the members of council does not thereafter become a valid general ordinance. . . . but is and remains without force and effect."

Inasmuch as the measure was voted by a simple majority, although labeled an emergency measure, it dies automatically, Kalbfleisch concluded.

The time ordinance was drawn up by Kalbfleisch at Hollingsworth's request but the solicitor was not present at the council meeting at which the vote was taken.

TOO LATE TO ACT

Hollingsworth said he did not think he could muster the necessary two-thirds majority needed to re-pass the measure as an emergency, and if the measure were re-introduced as a general ordinance (requiring only a 5 to 4 majority) it would be the end of the summer before it could be passed. Furthermore, it would not go into effect until 30 days after passage.

"The issue will be settled once and for all in November when the voters of the city will have a chance to vote on the issue," he added.

Referendum petitions, designed to have the question put on the November ballots are being circulated in the city. They require signatures of 10 per cent of the registered voters of the city.

In Shelby, Mayor William Morris sighed a pointed comment: "I'll be glad when they make up their mind one way or the other."

He added that members of the Shelby council had agreed not to hold a special meeting but to discuss the time issue at the regular meeting June 21.

Truman Hits At Congress

ABOARD TRUMAN TRAIN EN ROUTE TO KANSAS CITY, Mo. —(AP)—President Truman campaigned today in the Southwest with the plea that the people decide whether he or Congress is "wrong" on domestic issues.

"If I'm wrong," he said, "you will have a chance to attend to me later on. If I'm not wrong, you ought to attend to somebody else."

Mr. Truman challenged the legislators to stay in session until they pass price control, housing, federal aid to education and five other bills, in a talk at Los Angeles yesterday.

Back aboard his special train en route to Kansas City last night, the President said at San Bernardino, Calif., that he would "keep pouring it on Congress."

Mansfield Wins 3rd League Contest

G-R Manager Gets Game Winning Hit

Manager Nick Weber of Mansfield Gorman-Rupp broke out of a prolonged batting slump at the perfect time last night. He rapped a hard single over third base in the bottom half of the eighth inning to score Kenny Windsor from second base and defeat visiting Marion Smitty's Grill, 3 to 2.

Weber, after starting the season with some timely hitting had been in a terrific slump and had went 23 times at bat without a base hit. He had only last night removed himself from the cleanup spot in favor of Catcher Tick Hamilton.

The victory for Gorman-Rupp was its third against no defeats in the North Central Ohio Inter-City Softball league and makes even more important the scheduled games at Ashland Wednesday Ashland, pre-season favorite is in second place with a three-and-one record.

WHIFFS 14 MEN

Bobby Regula ,on the mound for Gorman-Rupp last night, kept his undefeated record intact in hanging up his third victory. He fanned 14 Marion batters which allowing five hits and walking two.

Gorman-Rupp had gotten off to a fast start by scoring in the first inning on a walk to Al Baki and three errors.

Marion tied the score in the third inning on a double by Walters and single by Culver but Mansfield regained its lead in the bottom half of the frame.

Baki again started things off with a walk and Pete Campbell drove him home with a long triple to center field. Campbell was out at the plate in attempting to stretch the hit into a home run

Walters, who seemed to be in locals' hair all night, tied the score with a home run in the sixth inning.

LOADS THE SACKS

Neither team could score in the seventh although Marion loaded the bases with only one out. Regula settled down, however, and forced the next two men to pop up.

In the eighth inning, Windsor and Campbell each collected his second hit but Hamilton popped up in attempting to bunt and Campbell was doubled off first. With two out, Weber stepped to the plate and broke up the game.

Goofy Keeps Yanks In Stitches

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK —(AP)— The old New York Yankees, the "Babe Ruth Guys," were standing around in laughing little groups with the present crop of bombers filling in the fringes and the only members of the younger band who wasn't overawed by those living legends was the irrepressible Lefty Gomez.

Usually the center of attraction, the DiMaggios, Henrichs and Kellers were gaping with eyes as big as saucers It took Lefty, a link between the distant past and the present, to bring them together

They call this Gomez by the nickname of "Goofy." That's not because he is lacking in gray matter, but because he has a great capacity for laughter and can put you in stitches quicker than Bob Feller can reach the catcher

Tommy Henrich, currently known to Yankee fans as "old reliable," was stiff and uncomfortable. Lefty quickly took him in tow.

"Look at him," Gomez joked "Did you know I made this Henrich a star?"

"Nobody knew he could go back until I started to pitch," Gomez added "Then he tried to make it look tough He knocked himself out against the wall. The ball? Oh, that was up in the bleachers."

Gomez looked across the room at Ed Barrow, the octogenarian who laid the foundation of the Yankee dynasty. Then he walked over and asked Barrow

"Ed, don't you think I was always underpaid?"

Barrow laughed heartily.

"First time I ever was able to ask him," Gomez grunted "He's in his 80's now I can outrun him"

The younger guys were relaxed by now but Henrich, who became Gomez' roommate when the outfielder came up in 1937, stuck to El Goofy. They had a field day cutting up old touches.

There was the time when Lefty's arm started to go. He hadn't pitched for six weeks, went to the mound once and then laid off about a month and a half. He hadn't been used in all that time and the team finally came down to closing day at Washington.

"Think you can go today?" asked Joe McCarthy.

"Joe," Goofy came back without a smile, "I think I need one more day's rest"

Henrich howled and Gomez twinkled:

"I figured that one more day would put me over into spring training."

It did. But it wasn't long enough before Vernon (Lefty) Gomez ran out of springs

Now he's scouting for the Yankees But they miss the guy called "Goofy" around the dugout

Know Your Golf Shots

By HERMAN BARRON
(AP Newsfeatures)

The spoon or No. 4 wood is about the easiest club to use.

That's because the clubface is lofted and gives the ball a better rise.

The average golfer usually hits a No 4 wood shot wel because the club head is small and the shaft is shorter than the other woods

In using the No. 4 wood the ball is moved slightly backward between the left heel and the center of the feet. Everything else is the same as in the tee shot except that you're not playing the ball off your tee.

The clubhead should rest naturally on the ground so that the face of the club remains absolutely square This will help you to hit the ball straight The No. 4 wood may be used in the rough as well as on the fairway.

The spoon is often preferred over the brassie or No. 2 wood because it is the shorter of the two clubs and brings you closer to the ball. And it is much easier to hit the ball into the air. This in itself is one reason why the average golfer has much more confidence with a 4 wood.

The square stance is recommended in the spoon shot. Be sure to take a full turn of the hips and shoulders on your backswing and concentrate on a complete follow through with the head remaining still throughout the entire swing

TOMORROW—Long or No. 2 Iron.

Arturo Godoy Wants a Crack At Heavyweight Ring Crown

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Arturo Godoy, the South American heavyweight from Chile, still believes he can whip Joe Louis.

Or if Jersey Joe Walcott lifts Louis' crown June 23, the South American, would like a crack at the new champ.

Godoy said so last night after scoring a four-round technical knockout over Irish Pat Richard, Columbus ex-marine who had piled up an impressive 30-fight record

It was the first kayo on Richard's slate, but sharp-punching Godoy had him on the mat for three counts of nine before Referee Gus Lesnevich light-heavyweight stopped the fight, and his count at seven, with the Columbus scrapper prone on the canvas

"I am 34 years old So are Walcott and Louis." Godoy said. "I have been winning a lot of fights and am ready for any of them."

"I saw your fight with Louis in 1940 in Madison Square Garden, and I thought you beat him," we told Godoy "You were fighting in a deep crouch, and he didn't get many shots at you in the 15 rounds."

"Yes, I was sharp that night," Godoy answered "I thought I beat him, too. Remember in the tenth round, when I kissed his cheek in a clinch? Well, I was kissing him goodbye At the finish, I was standing in my corner waiting for the man to say 'the new champion of the world' I was very happy. But the man said 'and still champion of the world' and I almost cried—but I was sure I beat him"

Al Weill, Godoy's manager, stepped in to say:

"We'd like a crack at Lesnevich, too, but he's going to Europe soon, so I guess that is out Ezzard Charles would make a good match with Arturo, too, especially in Cincinnati or Washington. We're ready for any of them."

Major League Scouts Go After Billy Loes

NEW YORK — (INS) — Major league scouts are casting interested eyes in the direction of Billy Loes, New York City high school pitcher.

Top Quartets Battle In Golf

Blue Goose Tavern and Myers Supply will clash in the feature match in the News-Journal A Golf league schedule this evening at Possum Run

The two teams are currently tied for first place along with Penn Auto Sporting Goods Should the Tavern-Myers match be fairly well divided Penn could easily slip into the top spot by whipping PD's Bar decisively PD's is tied for fifth place with Flexible Conveyor.

Orr Typewriter, deadlocked with Ideal Billards at 10 points one off the pace of the leaders, will meet last place Smokehouse

Ideal is scheduled against Flexible Conveyor which has a nine-point record

Trade Market Closes Today

NEW YORK - (INS)— The trading season in the major leagues closes at midnight tonight, and several clubs which need replacements badly may make a last-minute deal

For instance, the three metropolitan clubs the Giants, Yankees and Dodgers are in dire need of pitchers

Chicago's White Sox would give up Orval Grove or some other pitcher to New York for Tommy Byrne, but the Yankee brain trust wants to hold on to this promising southpaw

Brooklyn may recall Jack Banta from the pitching staff of its Montreal farm.

Red Blood Cells Must Be Kept Up If You Want To Feel Alive

Thousands Now Regaining Old Time Pep, Vigor and Drive By Releasing Vibrant Energy To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell

Overwork, undue worry, and lack of certain foods often reduces the red-blood strength - and starved, weak, puny blood just hasn't the power to keep up your energy and drive.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places Millions of bottles sold Get a bottle from your drug store. Rookie Pitcher's Mom Serves As Warmup Catcher

FREMONT —(AP)— One regret that Rookie Pitcher Jim Driftmyer will have when he reports for duty at a Cleveland Indians farm club is that he won't be able to take along his warmup practice catcher—who happens to be his mother.

Jim, newly signed by the American league leaders for duty with Batavia, N. Y., in the pony circuit, can truthfully say that he owes most of his baseball success to his mother, hardy, 65-year-old Mrs. J. B Driftmyer.

Mrs. Driftmyer's interest in her son's baseball career began 10 years ago when his father was hit on the arm by one of Jim's speedballs.

With the elder Driftmyer sidelined by the arm injury, Jim's mother immediately donned the catcher's mitt and has been serving as her son's warmup receiver ever since.

Mansfield Farm Tools and Galion Perfection Steel Body battled to a scoreless tie in eight innings at the Farm Tools field last night.

Stub Winebrenner went the distance for the Mansfield team, giving up but two hits and fanning eight. Farm Tools garnered five hits off the southpaw slants of Jack Stowe. Chuck Backensto and Virgil Noble robbed Galion of sure hits with fine catches.

Tribe Falls Before Bums In 'Benefit'

CLEVELAND — (INS) — The Cleveland Indians open a 15-game home stand tonight at the municipal stadium where they take on the Boston Red Sox in the first of a three-game series.

The "big three"—Bob Lemon, Bob Feller and Gene Bearden—are slated to hurl the series for the Tribe in that order.

Lemon, who has won more games than any other pitcher in the majors, will take the mound before a crowd of more than 60,000 in quest of his 10th triumph. He has lost three.

In the first half of a home-and-home benefit series, the Brooklyn Dodgers last night defeated the Tribe, 6-2, before 12,622 fans at Ebbets Field.

PLAY AGAIN JULY 14

The game raised $15,000 for the sandlot players of Flatbush. When the teams meet again July 14 at Cleveland's stadium, the receipts will go to the Cleveland Baseball federation.

Rookie Bill Kennedy, a southpaw, chucked for the Indians in the exhibition contest and was relieved in the seventh by Don Black after giving up five runs on six hits and three walks.

Manager Lou Boudreau produced the Redskins' only runs with a homer in the seventh, driving in Larry Doby ahead of him.

Rex Barney, lanky righthander for the Bronx Bombers, scattered nine hits among the Tribesmen and struck out 11. He walked seven.

Jackie Robinson, first Negro player to come to the majors, smashed a four-bagger in the third inning which drove in Pee-wee Reese ahead of him.

Grace Lenczyk Gets Favored Role In Golf

COLUMBUS, O. —(AP)— Sixteen of the nation's best college girl golfers turned to match play today to determine the 1948 National Women's Collegiate golf championship.

The favorite's role went to Grace Lenczyk of Newington, Conn., the curtis cup star who represents John B. Stetson university of Deland, Fla.

Miss Lenczyk won this role over defending champion Shirley Spork of Michigan State Normal on the basis of yesterday's record-shattering 38-34—72 performance in the 18-hole qualifying round. It set a new record, both for the four-year-old tournament and for Ohio State university's rolling, 6455-yard scarlet course.

Little Carol (Babe) Freese of Reed college, Portland, Ore., set the old mark of 73 in 1946. Women's par is 78; men's par 72

MISSES BY ONE

Miss Spork showed that she isn't giving up her title without a battle. Shirley, who won the championship last spring in a one-up contest with Miss Lenczyk, carded a 73 yesterday.

Neither Miss Lenczyk nor Miss Spork should have trouble today disposing of first round opponents. The former meets Merilyn Herpel (84) of Washington university, St Louis. Miss Spork tangles with Alice O'Neill, (83) former Indiana women's champion now playing for Rollins college.

The women's collegiate team title went yesterday to Rollins college of Winter Park, Fla., with a total score of 346 strokes. The Rollins college team scores were: Rosann Shaffer, 88, Clara Jane Mosack 87, Judy Baker 88 and Alice O'Neal 83.

Second place went to Ohio State with 367.

To round out an excellent week of fishing, Mr. and Mrs. Spiess caught 65 fish, 58 of them crappies, at the lake Friday. Komito's and Sport Center Play Top Independent Tilt

Mansfield's well-balanced Independent softball league standings may undergo a distinct change today at 6 p. m.

The league race could be straightened out a bit or it could be jumbled no end. Cellar-dwelling Ohio Sport Center is just one game back of the league-leading Komito's Clothes aggregation.

So tonight these two clubs meet at North Lake park. A Komito's victory would increase its first-place margin but a defeat would put the present leaders in a three-way tie for second.

However, the top game tonight could well be the Penn Auto-Sporting Goods joust with Greystone Nite club at Johns park. The teams are knotted for the second spot with one win and one defeat apiece.

American Legion Post 72 has a bye.

★

Two games also are booked in the Girls' league. Ohio Brass battles Westinghouse at Liberty park and Lumbermens goes against Tappan Stove at John Todd park.

Ohio Brass and Tappan are tied for first place with two wins apiece.

High School Star Will Show Again In Invitational

BEREA —(UP)— Gene Cole, the Lancaster high school senior who went out for track the first time this year and now is considered for a spot on the U. S. Olympic squad, will compete in the Northeastern Ohio AAU invitational track meet at Baldwin-Wallace college field here June 26.

Cole, who broke the U. S. interscholastic 440 record by running the course in 48 seconds flat at the recent state high school championships, won the 440 in 48.2 seconds last Saturday at the Ohio AAU meet at Dayton.

In the same meet, the sensational Lancaster runner won the 220-yard dash in 21.2 seconds, faster than any Ohio collegian has turned in this year with the exception of Harrison Dillard.

Joe Louis Has Held Heavy Title Longest Time; Corum Thinks Jersey Joe Will Battle Savage Foe

By BILL CORUM

POMPTON LAKES, N. J.—(INS)—A strapping, six-foot young man walked up to Joe Louis here the other day and handed him a snapshot. It was a picture of Louis holding a little boy up in his arms.

The champion studied the picture for a couple of minutes. Then he had to give up.

"What's the answer?" he asked the grinning youngster.

"That's you and me in this same spot 13 years ago," explained the lad. "Now, if you say the word, I'll pick you up and we'll have another one taken."

The story is told to illustrate that Joe Louis has been around the boxing business longer than most of us would think, if we didn't stop to think carefully.

When he fights Joe Walcott in the Yankee stadium on June 23, Louis will have been the world's heavyweight champion for 11 years and one day.

Nobody else ever wore boxing's golden crown that long. Nobody ever defended it more often. Or met all comers more willingly. Or wore it with greater dignity and sincerity. Or with greater pride.

Joe is proud and as straightforwardly and completely honest as any man I've ever met. It's impossible to talk with him and not realize that.

He never evades the question. Nor does he dress up his answers in an effort to please.

Managers and trainers might do something to alibi or gloss over the worst showing he had ever made in a ring since he was an amateur. Louis wouldn't.

It has been claimed that Joe's starting to climb through the ropes to leave the ring before the decision was announced that night offered positive proof that he knew he had been beaten.

My feeling is that even if he had known in advance that he still was going to get the decision, that he might have done exactly what he did do. That he was so humiliated, so mad at Joe Louis, that he wasn't thinking about the decision, or Walcott, or the title.

Even the fact that he eked out a hotly disputed decision that saved his championship meant next to nothing to him at the moment. He knew he had fought a stupid and bad fight. His pride in his standing as one of the great ring men of all time, and his craftsmanship had been rudely jolted.

It is my conviction that Walcott is going to be facing the nearest thing to the savage and determined Louis that fought Max Schmeling the second time as the Louis of 34 can make himself.

Whether that still will be good enough is, obviously, another matter.

By CHARLES EINSTEIN

CHICAGO—(INS)—Choice of performers for major league baseball's 15th annual all-star spectacle will once again be put to public vote this year.

Balloting begins today via 439 polling centers, and by the time the machines close July 5 a record vote—at least two and a half million—will probably have been recorded.

In addition the two major leagues will strew 800,000 ballots among the customers in their ball parks. Forty-seven states and the District of Columbia have at least one polling organ actively interested in what goes on.

PUBLIC CHOOSES

As was done last year, when the electoral system was formally reinstated after a decade of having the baseball managers do the picking the public will choose all but the all-star managers and pitchers.

The managers, by tradition, are those two fellows who led their respective clubs into the World Series the season previous.

This is fine as far as concerns Bucky Harris of the world champion New York Yankees, but of course Burt Shotton, the silent transient who led the Dodgers to the National league flag in 1947 during Leo Durocher's exile, won't be around. Durocher, back as official Brooklyn pilot, will guide the National leaguers.

The American league won the 1947 encounter, 2 to 1. The winners urged their two runs around the paths with all the speed and verve of a glass-blower, while the Nationals' lone run resulted from the most becoming hit of the ball game—big cat John Mize's 384-foot deposit into the right field seats.

MUST PLAY THERE

As last year, the rules state each player selected by the fans to start the game must stick around for a minimum of three innings. Pitchers, who'll be chosen by the managers, may not tarry more than three innings save in the case of a starter who's allowed no hits or somebody who's on the mound when a game goes into extra innings.

The voting ends officially eight days before the all-star game at Sportsman's Park, St. Louis, July 13. The game last year was at Wrigley Field, Chicago, home of the National league Cubs, so this year the American league St. Louis Browns have been designated as the host contingent.

The balloting hit 1,973,493 last year. Joe Di Maggio got more votes than anybody else—782,194.

N-J All-Star Ballot

This ballot or a facsimile may be used to vote for the all-star major league teams which will meet in St. Louis July 13. The Mansfield ballots will be tabulated daily and forwarded to the Chicago Tribune, voting headquarters. Just send the completed ballot to The News-Journal sports department. Pitchers will be picked by the team managers.

Mansfield Wins 3rd League Contest

G-R Manager Gets Game Winning Hit

Manager Nick Weber of Mansfield Gorman-Rupp broke out of a prolonged batting slump at the perfect time last night. He rapped a hard single over third base in the bottom half of the eighth inning to score Kenny Windsor from second base and defeat visiting Marion Smitty's Grill, 3 to 2.

Weber, after starting the season with some timely hitting had been in a terrific slump and had went 23 times at bat without a base hit. He had only last night removed himself from the cleanup spot in favor of Catcher Tick Hamilton.

The victory for Gorman-Rupp was its third against no defeats in the North Central Ohio Inter-City Softball league and makes even more important the scheduled games at Ashland Wednesday. Ashland, pre-season favorite is in second place with a three-and-one record.

WHIFFS 14 MEN

Bobby Regula ,on the mound for Gorman-Rupp last night, kept his undefeated record intact in hanging up his third victory. He fanned 14 Marion batters which allowing five hits and walking two.

Gorman-Rupp had gotten off to a fast start by scoring in the first inning on a walk to Al Baki and three errors.

Marion tied the score in the third inning on a double by Walters and single by Culver but Mansfield regained its lead in the bottom half of the frame.

Baki again started things off with a walk and Pete Campbell drove him home with a long triple to center field. Campbell was out at the plate in attempting to stretch the hit into a home run.

Walters, who seemed to be in locals' hair all night, tied the score with a home run in the sixth inning.

LOADS THE SACKS

Neither team could score in the seventh although Marion loaded the bases with only one out. Regula settled down, however, and forced the next two men to pop up.

In the eighth inning, Windsor and Campbell each collected his second hit but Hamilton popped up in attempting to bunt and Campbell was doubled off first. With two out, Weber stepped to the plate and broke up the game.

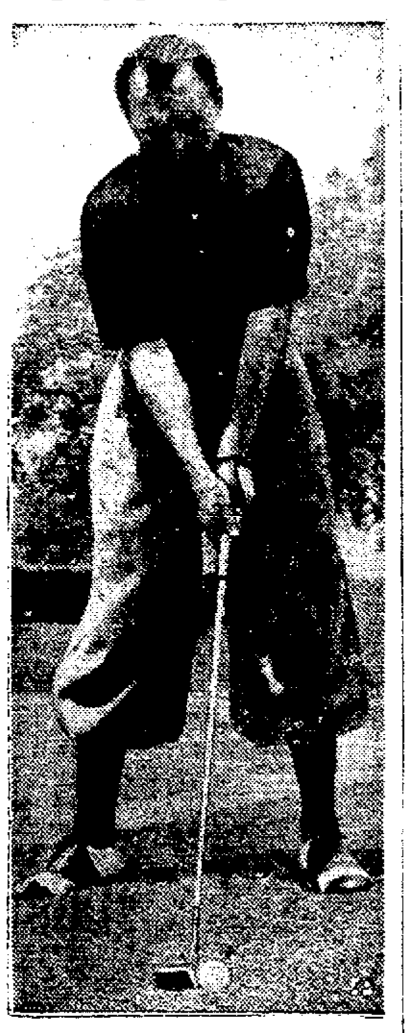
Anton Raadik Moves Step Nearer Match

CHICAGO —(INS)— Rugged Anton Raadik was a step nearer to a crack at Tony Zale's middleweight title today on the strength of a nine-round TKO over Tommy Bell of Youngstown, O., in Chicago's Marigold Gardens.

Raadik caught up with the fast moving Bell early in the ninth round of last night's bout and battered him into submission along the ropes.

Know Your Golf Shots

By HERMAN BARRON
(AP Newsfeatures)



Barron's Stance for No. 4 Wood Shot

The spoon or No. 4 wood is about the easiest club to use.

That's because the clubface is lofted and gives the ball a better rise.

The average golfer usually hits a No. 4 wood shot wel because the club head is small and the shaft is shorter than the other woods.

In using the No. 4 wood the ball is moved slightly backward between the left heel and the center of the feet. Everything else is the same as in the tee shot except that you're not playing the ball off your tee.

The clubhead should rest naturally on the ground so that the face of the club remains absolutely square. This will help you to hit the ball straight. The No. 4 wood may be used in the rough as well as on the fairway.

The spoon is often preferred over the brassie or No. 2 wood because it is the shorter of the two clubs and brings you closer to the ball. And it is much easier to hit the ball into the air. This in itself is one reason why the average golfer has much more confidence with a 4 wood.

The square stance is recommended in the spoon shot. Be sure to take a full turn of the hips and shoulders on your backswing and concentrate on a complete follow through with the head remaining still throughout the entire swing.

TOMORROW—Long or No. 2 Iron.

Arturo Godoy Wants a Crack At Heavyweight Ring Crown

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Arturo Godoy, the South American heavyweight from Chile, still believes he can whip Joe Louis.

Or if Jersey Joe Walcott lifts Louis' crown June 23, the South American, would like a crack at the new champ.

Godoy said so last night after scoring a four-round technical knockout over Irish Pat Richard, Columbus ex-marine who had piled up an impressive 30-fight record.

It was the first kayo on Richard's slate, but sharp-punching Godoy had him on the mat for three counts of nine before Referee Gus Lesnevich, light-heavyweight stopped the fight, and his count at seven, with the Columbus scrapper prone on the canvas.

"I am 34 years old. So are Walcott and Louis," Godoy said. "I have been winning a lot of fights and am ready for any of them."

"I saw your fight with Louis in 1940 in Madison Square Garden, and I thought you beat him," we told Godoy. "You were fighting in a deep crouch, and he didn't get many shots at you in the 15 rounds."

"Yes, I was sharp that night," Godoy answered. "I thought I beat him, too. Remember in the tenth round, when I kissed his cheek in a clinch? Well, I was kissing him goodbye. At the finish, I was standing in my corner waiting for the man to say 'the new champion of the world.' I was very happy. But the man said 'and still champion of the world' and I almost cried—but I was sure I beat him."

Al Weill, Godoy's manager, stepped in to say:

"We'd like a crack at Lesnevich, too, but he's going to Europe soon, so I guess that is out. Ezzard Charles would make a good match with Arturo, too, especially in Cincinnati or Washington. We're ready for any of them."

Major League Scouts Go After Billy Loes

NEW YORK — (INS) — Major league scouts are casting interested eyes in the direction of Billy Loes, New York City high school pitcher.

Loes hurled his fourth no-hit, no-run game of the season yesterday as Bryant high school downed Washington high, 4 to 0, in the semi-finals of New York's public school championship playoffs.

Wants Tony Zale

CHICAGO —(INS)— Sugar Ray Robinson is trying hard to worry about his title defense against New Orleans' Bernard Docusen Thursday night but already the welterweight champ is talking about a shot at Tony Zale's middleweight crown.

Top Quartets Battle In Golf

Blue Goose Tavern and Myers Supply will clash in the feature match in the News-Journal A Golf league schedule this evening at Possum Run.

The two teams are currently tied for first place along with Penn Auto Sporting Goods. Should the Tavern-Myers match be fairly well divided, Penn could easily slip into the top spot by whipping PD's Bar decisively. PD's is tied for fifth place with Flexible Conveyor.

Orr Typewriter, deadlocked with Ideal Billards at 10 points, one off the pace of the leaders, will meet last place Smokehouse.

Ideal is scheduled against Flexible Conveyor, which has a nine-point record.

Trade Market Closes Today

NEW YORK —(INS)— The trading season in the major leagues closes at midnight tonight, and several clubs which need replacements badly may make a last-minute deal.

For instance, the three metropolitan clubs—the Giants, Yankees and Dodgers—are in dire need of pitchers.

Chicago's White Sox would give up Orval Grove or some other pitcher to New York for Tommy Byrne, but the Yankee brain trust wants to hold on to this promising southpaw.

Brooklyn may recall Jack Banta from the pitching staff of its Montreal farm.

Goofy Keeps Yanks In Stitches

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK —(AP)— The old New York Yankees, the "Babe Ruth Guys," were standing around in laughing little groups with the present crop of bombers filling in the fringes and the only members of the younger band who wasn't overawed by those living legends was the irrepressible Lefty Gomez.

Usually the center of attraction, the DiMaggios, Henrichs and Kellers were gaping with eyes as big as saucers. It took Lefty, a link between the distant past and the present, to bring them together.

They call this Gomez by the nickname of "Goofy." That's not because he is lacking in gray matter, but because he has a great capacity for laughter and can put you in stitches quicker than Bob Feller can reach the catcher.

Tommy Henrich, currently known to Yankee fans as "old reliable," was stiff and uncomfortable. Lefty quickly took him in tow.

"Look at him," Gomez joked. "Did you know I made this Henrich a star?"

"Nobody knew he could go back until I started to pitch," Gomez added. "Then he tried to make it look tough. He knocked himself out against the wall. The ball? Oh, that was up in the bleachers."

Gomez looked across the room at Ed Barrow, the octogenarian who laid the foundation of the Yankee dynasty. Then he walked over and asked Barrow:

"Ed, don't you think I was always underpaid?"

Barrow laughed heartily.

"First time I ever was able to ask him," Gomez grunted. "He's in his 80's now. I can outrun him."

The younger guys were relaxed by now but Henrich, who became Gomez' roommate when the outfielder came up in 1937, stuck to El Goofy. They had a field day cutting up old touches.

There was the time when Lefty's arm started to go. He hadn't pitched for six weeks, went to the mound once and then laid off about a month and a half. He hadn't been used in all that time and the team finally came down to closing day at Washington.

"Think you can go today?" asked Joe McCarthy.

"Joe," Goofy came back without a smile, "I think I need one more day's rest."

Henrich howled and Gomez twinkled:

"I figured that one more day would put me over into spring training."

It did. But it wasn't long enough before Vernon (Lefty) Gomez ran out of springs.

Now he's scouting for the Yankees. But they miss the guy called "Goofy" around the dugout.

Thousands Now Regaining Old Time Pep, Vigor and Drive By Releasing Vibrant Energy To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell

Overwork, undue worry, and lack of certain foods often reduces the red-blood strength—and starved, weak, puny blood just hasn't the power to keep up your energy and drive.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Daring Swimmers Warned Against Needless Risks

"Bet you're scared to swim across the river. I dare you, I dare you!"

All too often this challenge, hurled by a 'teen-age youngster at a swimming companion, has been the prelude to one of the thousands of drownings which occur in this country every year, asserts John Watkins, aquatic expert of the Mansfield YMCA.

"It is impossible for me to over-emphasize the foolishness of this business of 'taking a dare' when it involves some water stunt a swimmer has never tried before," he says vigorously.

"Most of these 'take a dare' drownings happen to 'teen-agers who seem to think they have to accept any dare, no matter how risky, or lose face. It's better any day to lose face than to lose your life."

OBEY ALL warning signs—never take "dares" or show off.

If swimmers would only swim with their heads as well as with their arms and legs, they would avoid a good deal of trouble, Watkins maintains. The most important aspect of water safety is just common sense, he says. It is necessary for a swimmer's mind to be trained along with his muscles and lungs.

Beginners should ignore the temptation to over-tax their prowess by trying to prove they are better than they really are.

"Know your limitations and don't tempt fate," Watkins says. "Remember that in swimming it is better to go out like a lamb and back like a lion. Always keep an energy reserve for safety."

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Foreign Expert Doubts U. S.-Russia War Likely

There is no threat of a war between Russia and the western democracies in the forseeable future, Spencer D. Irwin, foreign affairs editor of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, told a capacity luncheon crowd at the meeting of the Mansfield Exchange club at the Leland hotel yesterday.

Propaganda may become more vehement and the "diplomatic footwork" will go on, Irwin said, but there will not be a shooting war because the U. S. won't start it and the Russians don't dare start it, at present.

"Eventually," he said, 'a shooting war may come, but we must remember that Russia is now embarked on a Marxist program of world revolution. This program may collapse just as Russia's Marxist plan for her domestic economy collapsed. The profit motive is now more highly regarded in Russia than in any capitalist nation of the world.

"If we succeed in making democracy and capitalism work, the Russians may become discouraged and give up their plan for world revolution," Irwin asserted.

Looking at the situation in Palestine, the editor said U S policy is at least partly to blame for the present situation:

"We favored partition, then we withdrew support of it, now by recognition of the new Israel we are favoring it again But in recognizing the new Jewish nation I am glad to see Mr Truman make a good mistake, for once."

The only answer to the Palestine crisis, he said, is to see that—as Sumner Welles, former secretary of state, advises—both the Arabs and the Jews get the land they really deserve.

'SECRET DEAL'

Irwin decried a secret deal which he said is now in the making by the British to give King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan, newly discovered oil lands in the Nega desert as an appeasement move to get him to call off his Arab Legion, the only Arab force with any real organization or power

If a successful German settlement is not achieved, Irwin explained, the Schumann government will fall in France and Gen. Charles DeGaulle will come to power.

"This would mean dictatorship for France," Irwin said And he described it as "just as bad as communism so far as personal liberty is concerned"

Irwin blasted U. S. policy in Greece, where Constantin Tsaldaris is being maintained in power "because he'll jump when we want him to," and in Czechoslovakia which the Allies abandoned to Russia at Munich and again at Yalta.

MASAYRK 'MURDERED'

Flatly, Irwin said that Jan Masaryk, former Czech foreign minister, "was murdered by Klement Gottwald," the present Czech president. Masaryk's death was described by the Russians as a 'suicide"

"All Western Europe, except Belgium, is being forced to accept socialism to survive," the speaker declared Then he advised that the U. S might not like socialism but that it had better work with those countries to overcome it rather than oppose it openly and force Western Europe into the Russian fold.

Finally he declared that negotiations should be resumed with Russia for propaganda purposes if nothing else, and that the average American should speak up more loudly on what he wants his government to do.

Joseph McLean was program chairman. The meeting was presided over jointly by Frank A. Berkey, president, said Robert LeFever, vice-president.

Committee Showdown Nears on Long-Range Farm Program

Conference On Strategy Opens Today

Senators Favor Permanent Bill

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Agriculture committee senators called a strategy conference today on their expected showdown with house conferees on the issue of a long-range farm program versus an 18 months extension of existing law

The long-range bill was made the "pending business" of the Senate, but was laid aside today in favor of appropriation measures and probably will not be reached for debate until tomorrow.

Agriculture committee members are confident that the Senate will approve their long-range bill, revamping the whole support and conservation program But they anticipate a hard struggle when the two rival measures go to conference

Meanwhile, Sen Russell (D-Ga) planned to spearhead a fight against the Senate measure He declared

"This measure is too complicated and too far-reaching to be considered in haste in the closing hours of a session It presents several new theories with implications that I don't think are fully understood by the economists themselves"

Russell said that an immediate effect would be to decrease price supports 'an average of 20 per cent" He said he will support the House bill

Sen. Aiken, (R-Vt.), principal author of the Senate bill, is confident that what he termed "pressure from the grass-roots" will bring the House into line for the long-range measure.

The House is in the best position strategically. There must be a farm bill, and conferees can argue that in the one-hour the House rules allow on a conference report such things as the new "10-year moving average' parity base cannot be explained

In todays conference the agriculture senators expected to reverse a tentative amendment agreed on earlier providing that U S cotton stocks stored abroad should be included in the normal supply" figures used in computing support prices

House Votes Tariff Bill

WASHINGTON —(INS)— The House today approved and sent to the White House a bill which would extend the reciprocal trade act for one year with restrictions on the President s tariff-setting powers

Final congressional action on the measure came when the House swiftly accepted Senate amendments eliminating the lower branch's original provision for a Capitol Hill veto over presidential tariff cuts

As completed by Congress however the legislation would require the President to explain his reasons if he made tariff reductions greater than those recommended by the U S tariff commission

The Senate measure was passed yesterday by a 70 to 18 vote after Sen Barkley (D Ky) and other Democrats declared it spelled the death knell' of reciprocal trade agreements

Crop Yield Seen Good For Ohioans

Wheat Up 14 Per Cent From Last Year

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Ohio farmers will harvest a bumper wheat crop next month.

The Ohio Cooperative Crop Reporting service estimated today that the wheat harvest in the Buckeye state will total 56,056,000 bushels. This would be 14 per cent higher than last year and 30 per cent above the 10-year average for the years 1937 to 1946.

The yield per acre is expected to average 24½ bushels per acre, two bushels above last year's yield.

Ohio farmers also will harvest a bumper oats crop. Conditions on June 1 gave indication that the oats crop would total 47,234,000 bushels. This would be more than twice the crop last year when heavy spring rains washed out most of the Ohio oats.

Rye on June 1 gave promise of a crop of 374,000 bushels, down from last year, while barley was forecast at 572,000 bushels as compared to 390,000 bushels in 1947.

HAY BELOW NORMAL

The service said that up to June 1, the season had been quite favorable for both hay and pasture development. All hay averaged 87 per cent of normal while pastures were listed as being 91 per cent of normal.

The June 1 forecast for peaches was 936,000 bushels, eight per cent less than 1947 but still seven per cent above the 1937-46 average. Sour cherries gave promise of 1,760 tons as compared to 2,120 tons in 1947. Sweet cherries indicated a total yield of 210 tons, 70 below last year.

Milk production per cow in herds kept by Ohio Crop reporters averaged 21.7 pounds on June 1, up one-tenth from last year.

Ohio's chickens laid 267 million eggs during May, a two per cent drop from May a year ago.

Fireworks Display to Climax Galion's July 4th Celebration

GALION — A display of fireworks on the Fourth of July at Heise park in the evening will be furnished by Scarborough post, American Legion, to climax a celebration that will include two tournament games by the Legion baseball teams. Charles Cramer was named chairman of the committee to plan the celebration at the regular meeting of the post last night.

The post also pledged a sum of $500 to the Galion Child Care council toward the purchase of the Oscar Wisler home on Harding Way East to be used for new headquarters of the Child Care center. The post decided to purchase uniforms for its band.

A resolution was passed recommending that funds from the state sales tax be applied to county child welfare programs. The resolution, which was read by Reynold Sentieri, will be carried to the state convention of the American Legion.

Legionnaires heard a talk by Duane Simmons of Loudonville, fifth district adjutant, who is a candidate for the position of fifth district vice-commander.

Commander Bernard Liggett and Lawrence Neumann, who took three Galion boys to Boys' State at Ohio Wesleyan campus, Delaware, last Saturday, announced that next Sunday will be visitors' day at which time a baseball game will be a feature of entertainment.

Two members of the post hospitalized are Charles Gelsanliter, who is in City hospital, and Clyde Richardson, who has been admitted to Crile hospital, Cleveland.

Manhunters Snare Killer

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—(INS)—State Police Inspector Edward Daugherty of Oneida, said today that Steven Wzesinski, 33, of Gary, Ind., has confessed to three bank robberies and the fatal shooting of Harold C. Whitcaker, 25, near Gary last Thursday.

One of the greatest manhunts in upper New York history resulted in the capture at gunpoint of Wzesinski and Mrs. Norma Barbara Shurman, 25.

Daugherty said that Mrs. Shurman would not respond to questioning, but he expressed belief that she was not involved in the bank robberies or slaying. He said, however, that while traveling with Wzesinski, she knew of his exploits.

The wage increase is retroactive to June 7 if Local 154, UAW-CIO, approves it. It continues the contract for two years with provision for a reopening on wages one year from today.

Who Lifted Gambling Ban?

NOW THAT illegal commercialized gambling has been permitted to return to Mansfield, finally including the long-familiar horse race bookie in the same location and with the same operator, those who have kept tab on developments of the past four months detect a malodorous stench about the whole business.

There was first the appearance of sincerity in the shutdown order by Police Chief Jesse Schwab, which was immediately effective in clearing store counters of gambling devices, stopping back room poker games and suspending bookie operations. According to Chief Schwab this action was sanctioned by Mayor Roy W. Vaughn, and the chief seemed honest in his statement that the ban would be permanent.

But it wasn't permanent. Within a couple of months punch boards, poker sheets and tip boards started reappearing on store counters—without police interference—but apparently there was some wrangling as to who was to be favored in the matter of operating a bookie, with rumors flying around that outside interests were competing with the "home town boy" for this lucrative spot in the local gambling setup.

But it now appears that everything has been adjusted in a satisfactory way, insofar as gambling "big shots" and responsible officials are concerned, and that "home town" interests are to be guarded against invasion by outsiders.

State laws and municipal ordinances are quite clear on the subject of commercialized gambling, even to the extent of providing penalties on property owners who permit gambling operations in a house or building over which they have control.

Law enforcement officials are employed out of public funds to ENFORCE laws—and are not privileged to decide which laws shall be enforced and which ignored—as has been done here in the matter of commercialized gambling.

* * *

WHEREVER illegal gambling is permitted to carry on in such an open way as has been resumed in Mansfield there is justification for suspicion that there has been a "fix" between a recognized spokesman for the gambling interests and THE official who has the final say in the matter—whether he be the mayor of the city, the chief of police, or some political boss to whom these officials kowtow.

And also, there is a quite commonly accepted suspicion that somewhere along the line, graft enters into the matter, with a "pay-off" somewhere in the background recognized as customary procedure.

Public reaction to the four months of jockeying that has been going on in Mansfield in regard to the gambling ban and its unsavory end, ranges all the way from amusement to severe condemnation, coupled with wonderment as to how such a shift in the attitude of administrative officials came about and who is in position to exert the pressure (or offer the inducements) necessary to restore "wide open" gambling in this city.

Chief of Police Schwab is placed in the awkward position of having appeared to start the banning move, assertedly with sanction by Mayor Vaughn, who, after all, is the city's chief executive official, and the return of gambling operations—now including the bookie—has been without apology or explanation by either of them.

* * *

PLACING the whole subject on the basis of law enforcement, rather than on the issue of whether or not commercialized gambling should be permitted, a point has been reached at which there is an obvious breakdown of municipal law enforcement agencies, insofar as anti-gambling laws are concerned.

Under the law, responsibility then passes to the county, with the prosecuting attorney next in line for action, and the way open for the common pleas judge to direct grand jury investigation of illegal gambling being permitted by city authorities.

In the absence of such action there is final resort to the governor of the state, who is empowered to act in instances of nonfeasance by local officials.

Other Ohio cities are troubled, from time to time, with appearance of official somnolence as to gambling operations, but seldom has there been such a glaring example of a link between gambling interests and some policy-directing official than has appeared in the smelly mess that has developed in Mansfield—which prides itself on being a law-abiding city . . . a fine community in which to live, to work, and to rear children.

Opportunity to Learn How to Swim

WITH MORE in the way of water sports becoming available in the Mansfield area, local interest in providing children with an opportunity to learn how to swim has shown a noticeable increase.

This leads to anticipation that an unusually large number of parents and children will be attracted to the Red Cross "learn to swim" program which is to get under way early in July and for which applications are now being received.

There are to be beginners' classes, as well as instruction suited to children who "know how to swim" but who realize there is more to learn, and there will also be training for advanced students in life-saving and instruction methods.

All in all, it's a commendable community activity which may be instrumental in saving lives—and, as they say in promoting traffic safety, THAT LIFE MAY BE YOUR OWN.

'Luxury' Taxes to Stay Awhile

NOW that a reduction in income taxes has been put into effect, Congress is inclined to sidestep a previously held idea of making some cuts in the present high wartime taxes on such so-called "luxury" items as fur coats, jewelry, cosmetics, telephone calls, passenger transportation, and the like.

It was originally the intention to lower some excise taxes, but the plan has been dropped as House Republican leaders have decided that 1948 is not the time to tamper with these taxes.

With mounting expenditures, especially for defense, there is considerable worry over the budget situation, with uncertainty as to whether or not the budget for the 1949 fiscal year will balance.

An observer of the popularity of June weddings also notes rather sadly that the day of the $5 wedding present is passed.

Uncle Sam Now 'Trade King of World'

By SIGRID ARNE

WASHINGTON — Uncle Sam is sitting on an unwanted throne. From it he can virtually dictate which nations build what industries and when.

He can pass on everything Europe wants to buy here.

He can send stuff to western Europe which he denied to Russia and her satellites.

He can decide whether Europe or Latin America gets stuff that is scarce—like power generating equipment. He can decide between Europe and the Far East.

He could cut off help to Western Europe if it should sell anything to Russia which the Soviets could use for war.

He has left one gate open. Canada can buy anything she wants.

For good or evil, the U. S. must make the decisions: Whether Brazil world markets can stand one more textile mill in France, whether Brazil needs power lines worse than Australia.

This unsought power stems from the fact that only American factories to date can pour out the flood of goods the world wants.

The need to make intelligent choices on where to send these goods has had government trade experts down to shirt sleeves and black coffee for months. They have just about jelled a system.

The system works through pieces of white paper: Export licenses. Issued by the officeof international trade of the commerce department, they say that Joe Smith of Minneapolis can sell so much of something, not above such a price, to Joe Hendricks of London, Jose Alvarez of Rio or Faris Husseini of Cairo.

The U. S. government has never put such leg irons on selling abroad before, except in war time. Right after the war orders flooded in from all the world. Congress decided to help Western Europe with the Marshall Plan. But it wanted to be sure that Europeans spent the money so wisely that it would be back on its feet in four years.

* * *

Reasons for Controls.

CONGRESS also wanted to be sure the Marshall Plan nations got their basic needs. So it okayed a return of controls.

We let other nations have our goods for four reasons as outlined by W. Averell Harriman when he was secretary of commerce:

1. If the stuff isn't so short at home that we'd hurt ourselves by selling.
2. If we can build some industry, abroad that turns out goods we need, like repairing the tin industry in the Netherlands Indies.
3. If we can help our non-communist friends.
4. If we can help other nations build the sort of peace we want, with free elections and free trade.

Here's how the system works:

1. There is a list of 400 commodities which are so scarce (mostly raw materials such as wheat and steel) that every ton leaving the country must have an export license for anywhere in the world.
2. Men shipping to Western Europe (Marshall Plan nations) must have a license to ship anything at all. This is so France will get a locomotive (which she needs) and not a carload of nylons (which French women may want but which the nation doesn't need).
3. Men shipping to the Russian bloc can ship nothing that could be used for war. What's more, the nations we're helping are not allowed to ship anything of the sort to Russia.

This list of "war potential" goods includes mostly heavy machinery, which might be used to turn out tractors (which would be all right) but which might also turn out tanks (which would be bad).

4. Men who ship to Latin America, the Far and Middle East need licenses only for the 400 scarce items. But Secretary of State Marshall has told the Latins that Europe must come first for a while because peace in Europe is important to us all.
5. Then there are a few special restrictions—

The atomic energy commission can deny sales of anything to do with that bomb to any nation in the world.

The munitions board decides who gets our arms and ammunition.

The treasury says who gets our gold and narcotics.

Speaking of Your Health

Appetite Is Poor Guide

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

MANY people believe that appetite is the best guide to good eating. The body's need for a particular food, they feel, will stimulate the appetite for it. Since this is by no means true, they are largely "kidding" themselves when they reason further that if they eat what they like, they will inevitably get all the food elements necessary to good health.

To demonstrate more clearly how unreliable appetite alone can be a guide to a proper diet, some recent studies were carried out with animal subjects.

It was found that the animals did seem to have some sort of an ability to select certain minerals and vitamins on the basis of what they needed. But, when it came to protein foods, such as are obtained from meat, eggs, fish and milk, their appetite was definitely not an adequate guide.

New Tissues.

Proteins are needed for building new tissues and replacing the wornout ones. Animals from the same litter differed as to the foods they selected. One animal might select a fairly good diet for itself, but a brother, from the same litter, living under the same conditions, would not choose the necessary foods.

Thus, if animals under laboratory condition can be guided only to some extent by appetite in selecting necessary foods, it would seem far less likely that human beings could be guided by appetite alone in selecting foods to make up a well-balanced diet.

This is particularly true in view of the many artificial and highly processed foods which constitute a great part of the diets commonly employed.

Balanced Diet.

This does not mean that the appetite should be disregarded entirely. It only indicates that it is important for persons to know what foods supply the necessary vitamins, minerals, and proteins and to make sure that these foods are included in the daily diet.

A well-balanced diet can be built around such foods as a pint of milk a day for every adult, and a quart for the child; an egg a day; one serving of meat, fish, or poultry; two servings of vegetables and fruits; whole-grain cereals, and butter or fortified margarine.

Timely Editorial

Reason for Joining.

An unusually strong argument for joining the National Guard or certain types of organized, active reserve units lies in the proposed, peacetime draft bill now under consideration in Congress and due for early passage. That reason is that young men eligible under the proposed law would not have to register for drafting if, at the time the bill becomes a law, they are already members of the National Guard or the specified kind of active reserve units.

To young men in the midst of schooling or in regular employment this alternative will have a strong appeal because it is an alternative between two years of full-time military service or three years of National Guard service entailing one evening of drill a week and a two-week summer camp period.

It is an alternative between performing military duty exclusively and performing National Guard training while continuing the civilian activities of their choice. — Columbus Dispatch.

Last Minute Move Kills Education Bill

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Congressman Edward McCowen, Ohio Republican, who has fathered the federal-aid-to-education bill in the House, moved, in a closed-door meeting recently, to call a special session of the education and labor committee in order to report the bill out of committee.

He started speaking at 11:59 a. m. Before he finished his motion, the bells rang out the notice that Congress had convened at 12 noon. Technically committees are not supposed to meet while the House is in session, although it is accepted practice to wind up the pending business before adjourning.

But big Max Schwabe, Missouri Republican, didn't give McCowen a chance.

"Mr. Chairman the House is now in session," he shouted, jumping to his feet. "It is illegal for the committee to sit while the House is in session. I move that we adjourn."

As the meeting broke up, New York's Congressman Ralph Gwinn rushed over to Schwabe, slapped him on the back and congratulated him for his parliamentary maneuver.

What Schwabe did was to kill any chance of bringing the education bill to a test vote, since the committee has only one final meeting day before Congress is supposed to adjourn.

Afterward, Speaker Joe Martin breathed a sigh of relief. For Schwabe's action in bottling up the education bill gets Joe and others off the hook. They can continue to blame the education and labor committee.

* * *

Taft vs. Speaker Martin.

SENATOR TAFT called at Speaker Martin's office last week with a long list of bills that should be given a hearing before Congress adjourns. He pointed out that it would be bad politics to leave any of these important bills in mid-air.

"We can't make it by June 19," Taft pleaded.

But Martin, now a definite candidate for the GOP nomination against Taft, was unimpressed.

"We can make it over here," he shrugged, referring to the House side of the Capitol. "If you aren't ready to quit on time, that's your concern."

Martin suggested longer hours and harder work, added that nothing on the list was important enough to bring Congress back anyhow.

Note — Afterward, Martin admitted to Republican congressmen at a private dinner-meeting that the Senate was at a disadvantage because it couldn't control filibusters. If it was necessary for Congress to return, however, he said he preferred to wait until both political conventions are over. Taft has suggested calling Congress back between the conventions.

Tips From Truman Train.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN himself is good-natured and philosophical about everything on his tour, bandies jokes with local citizens . . . In Idaho, he told about a soldier he met in the guardhouse up in Maine during the war. The soldier, he said, was an Idaho GI who "preferred tthe guardhouse to being forced to peel Maine potatoes." . . . In Butte, Montana, Truman was serenaded before his talk by the local high-school band, pride of the community. When he got up to talk, Truman asked the band to play one more number, first saying he was sure most of the crowd came to hear the crackerjack band rather than him. It went over big.

Truman is a good sport at all times. He rode 200 miles in an open car over dusty roads through sparsely settled Idaho . . . At Sun Valley he was the answer to a press agent's prayer. He posed at skeet-shooting, fly-casting, even dangled 50 feet above the ground by a thin cable from the Sun Valley ski lift to the horror of secret service men . . . Press agent Steve Hannegan hoped for some good publicity pictures, but when Truman went through every stunt in the "cheesecake routine," Hannegan chartered a private plane to fly the pictures all the way back to New York.

* * *

Lobby Dies Hard.

GOP FRIENDS of the real-estate lobby tried a smart, last-minute maneuver to try to block the housing bill.

Noticing that only four or five Democratic members of the House banking and currency committee were present, GOP Congressman Clarence Kilburn of Malone, N. Y., quickly moved to report out the Wolcott bill minus public housing, slum clearance, and other humanitarian features of the original Taft-Ellender-Wagner bill.

"I object," declared Democrat Wright Patman of Texas. "Some of our colleagues are not present. We should have time to run them up so they can vote on this."

"It's now 20 minutes to 2 o'clock," ruled Wolcott from the chair. "You can have until 2 o'clock to produce absent members. We vote then."

Representative Boggs of Louisiana and Mike Monroney of Oklahoma jumped into action, rounded up Democratic colleagues and all eleven were on hand to help defeat the Kilburn motion, 14 to 13, with the support of three Republicans—Hull of Wisconsin, Stratton of Illinois, and Scott of Pennsylvania.

Washington Calling

Greek Situation Acute

By MARQUIS CHILDS

RUMORS persist of an impending change in the government of Greece that may well provide new embarrassments for the United States in its uneasy role of protector. One year after the start of the U. S. program, progress must be measured with a microscope.

The achievement is almost wholly a negative one. Greece has not gone communist and the government in Athens is not an outright dictatorship.

But it is not enough, as Greece abundantly illustrates, to have stopped communism. Such a negative approach will not win over Europe. It is not enough to stop communism if the alternative is support of something that looks very much like Fascism.

We will grant that Greece is a riddle within a riddle. We will also grant that aid administrator Dwight Griswold did his best to broaden the Athens government, over the opposition of career diplomats and the former ambassador, Lincoln McVeagh.

Griswold used his influence to have the 87-year-old liberal leader, Themistocles Sophoulis, made prime minister. Sophoulis, a man of intergrity and courage, found himself surrounded by members of the royalist populist party in key positions. He has often said privately that he felt himself a captive with little power to make the changes that would win greater confidence from the Greek people.

Now, according to reports from Greece, powerful leaders on the extreme right feel the opportunity is drawing near to end this so-called coalition government. They want to replace it with what they would call a service government to be headed by a military man.

Such a service government would be little more than a thinly disguised dictatorship. That will be the fact behind the propaganda out of Athens to the effect that only a "strong" government can meet the mounting threat of communism.

* * *

Aroused By Murder.

Following the murder of CBS correspondent George Polk, the rightist press in Athens unleashed a savage attack on Constantine Argyris of the Christian Science Monitor. It seemed almost as though the attackers were inviting the same fate for Argyris as befell Polk. Argyris is almost the last remaining newspaper correspondent who ventured any criticism of the Athens government.

The Right-Wing leaders apparently had not expected American opinion to react so strongly to the Polk murder. This reaction has produced at least one result in Athens. Argyris reports in the Monitor that the government is investigating the terrorist activities of the extreme right. Presumably this would include the activities of a secret terrorist society with its own armed bands.

There are unhappy signs that American policy-makers in Greece are in a frame of mind to accept almost anything, yielding to the Greek Right-Wing view that any and all forms of repression are justified in the war against communism. And communism, by this definition, becomes any expression to the left of, say, the late Williams Jennings Bryan

Should the U. S. be put in the position of backing a thinly disguised dictatorship in Greece, the evil consequences would extend far beyond that sick nation.

The European recovery program, on which Greece depends, must be renewed in the coming winter. Isolationists would love to cite blundering in Greece to prove the program should be shut off.

Griswold and the newly appointed U. S. ambassador to Greece, Henry F. Grady, will have to make this clear to the stubborn dead-enders in Athens. Above all, they must disabuse them of the idea that they can do what they please since in their view the U. S. needs Greece more than Greece needs the U. S.

Dave Boone Says:

Well, New York has another case of a confessed killer turned loose on the community by those very agencies it depends upon for protection. Now it's a man who was dishonorably discharged from bath the Navy and Army, convicted of a slaying in France, let off with a ten-year sentence and freed by the Army or a review board after serving a little more than one year. They hardly detained him.

* * *

The officials who turned him loose to slay housewives with a "commando punch" would seem to be as guilty as the prisoner, if not more so.

* * *

Harry Truman calls congress the worst in history, although admitting it might get into a photo finish with the one under Thaddeus Stevens. Congress is returning the fire. It looks like another case for U.N.

* * *

Count Bernadotte says his father gave him a Bible before he left on his mission as mediator in Palestine and urged dependence on prayer. And he adds he knows that without God's help he couldn't have succeeded in the Holy Land. Things like that in the daily news give you a lift.

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERNAN

THERE have been no takers for wives at $10,000 each. This may be the beginning of the recession.

* * *

Or they may have picked the wrong time. They're competing for the consumer's dollar with new cars and the cars have been on order longer.

* * *

But Europe will find it hard to believe that we are as well off as we have claimed to be. Not while the market is glutted with girls willing to marry for a paltry million pennies.

* * *

Only the reelection of Jimmie Petrillo to a ninth term can restore their faith in our democratic methods. Here is a man who doesn't seek office . . . he just stays in it.

* * *

Jimmie says he has no present plans for lifting the ban on making records. It also appears that musicians have no present plans for lifting the shades while making them.

Farmer's Diary

The Comic Book Menace

By CALVIN A. BYERS

I WISH all parents of growing boys and girls might read the leading article in Saturday Review of Literature of May 29, "The Comics—Very Funny!" by Frederick Wertham, M. D.

Mr. Wertham is senior psychiatrist, New York City's department of hospitals. His clinical studies of the comic book industry and those of his associates of the Lafargue Clinic are "the first carried out independently from the comic book industry."

He says some shocking things which should arouse public opinion against what John Mason Brown calls "the marijuana of the nursery."

* * *

MY OWN opinion is that children themselves can be led to discriminate against this trash. Some years ago, when comic books first began to invade our village schools, I wrote my opinions, relating an incident affecting my own boys.

I said, in part, "somebody is lining his pockets at the expense of boys with money to spend . . . of course a person might eat tainted meat a few times and not die from it, but I'd hate to see a family of mine become carrion eaters . . . a boy's mind is a part of his body, and stunted even more easily . . . some boys, even those pretty young, cannot help THINKING."

* * *

OUR LOCAL librarian conducts a Book club for young readers every summer. They summarize a short review of the books they read, and there are prizes for those who finish the most.

With free libraries operating in nearly every community, why do families waste money on cheap "funny books"?

Here is a challenge to young people's pride! Why not a high school-age group to clean up the town? Why not make the confounded comic books so unpopular that no shop will dare handle them? Why not condemn their use as radio fare for unwitting listeners who may turn out to be gunmen or sadistic citizens if their minds are constantly fed upon violence? Whose country is this? Will we let the makers of cheap, fantastic, sordid, sexy, violent "comics" take over our children's thinking?

What do you suggest we do about it?

The boys' choir of Grace Episcopal church came to the rescue Saturday night at the Ziegler-Pfahler wedding when the electricity went off just as Mrs. Eleanor Eckert was supposed to start her organ recital. What to do? Mrs. Eckert held a hasty conference with the boys and, rather extemporaneously, they begin singing a cappella, the hymns and the song, "O Perfect Love," which were scheduled as a part of the wedding service. They wound up singing the Wedding March so the bride might start down the aisle on time. Guests said it was one of the prettiest weddings they had ever attended.

Approaching Marriage Date Announced By Miss Sheriff

MRS. CHARLES F. SHERIFF entertained in honor of her daughter, Marjorie Ruth, Sunday afternoon when she and Dr. Sheriff announced Miss Sheriff's coming marriage July 10 to Eugene Marvin Sellmeth, Canal Fulton.

The tea party was given in the Sheriff home, 420 Sherman place, at 4 p. m. Refreshments were served buffet style.

The serving table was decorated with a miniature bridal party including the bride, matron of honor, four bridesmaids, a ringbearer and a flower girl, the same number of attendants Miss Sheriff plans to have at her wedding.

The bride was carrying a tiny bouquet of miniature flowers and from each blossom fell a streamer with the date of the approaching marriage on it. Each guest was given one of the flowers from the bouquet.

The entire centerpiece was flanked by low arrangements of tuberous-rooted begonias in pastel shades.

Out-of-town guests at the tea included Mrs. William Sellmeth sr., Canal Fulton, the mother of the prospective bridegroom; Mrs. Donald McMillen, Canal Fulton; Mrs. John Cole, Massillon; Mrs. Harold Hiner, Fremont; Mrs. John Hiner and Mrs. Richard Budd, Ashland; Miss Nancee Isler, Wooster, and Mrs Robert Sheriff, Columbus.

The bride's father, Dr. Charles F. Sheriff, will officiate for the open service at 7:30 p. m. in St. Matthew's Lutheran church, of which he is pastor.

Both young people were graduated from Wittenberg college this month. Miss Sheriff is affiliated with Alpha Xi Delta social sorority, the honorary political science fraternity and Psi Chi, phychology honorary fraternity, of which she served as vice president. She was president of the Women's Athletic association during the past year and was Homecoming Queen for the school the previous year.

Mr. Sellmeth was president of Alpha Tau Omega social fraternity and a member of the political science fraternity. He has been active in athletics including basketball and baseball, and was voted the most valuable player on the former team for the past two years. He plans to enter law school but may accept offers to play professional ball for a while before continuing his education.

Mrs. Martin Entertains Garden Club

Mrs. R. R. Martin, 274 Vennum avenue, was the hostess last week to 16 members of the Garden Study Club when they met for luncheon at her home. The small tables were centered with arrangements of garden flowers.

Mrs. L. D. Bower gave "Facts from the Garden Greetings," official publication of the Garden Club of Ohio. Members made arrangements to attend the Van Wert peony festival held last Saturday and Sunday

The arrangement of the month was made by Mrs. Clarence Lisle who used Blaze climber roses to form a bouquet for a living room.

"Something out of the ordinary" for the meeting was the Star of Bethlehem, a house plant grown from bulbs and its nature was described by Mrs. R. K. Clark.

"Lengthening the Iris Season" was the title of the main talk of the afternoon given by Mrs. A. J. Barker.

The program was followed by a display of roses from the gardens of the members of the club.

Mrs. O. G. Place, Glenwood boulevard, will entertain the club June 25. The meeting will begin with a 1 o'clock luncheon.

Mrs. Thomas leaves Sunday to join her husband who is stationed in Georgia.

Horoscope

For Wednesday, June 16.

BY dint of concentrated efforts, well-planned and organized tactics, suppported by shrewd and clever strategies, there is likely to be a sudden whirl in the wheel of fortune, which should be dramatic and breathtaking. A renewed grip on congested or lagging affairs, a new lease on life, may be suddenly and abruptly precipitated. This drastic change may be radical and far-reaching on the affairs, fortunes and destiny, affecting the life in all its objectives and contacts.

Those whose birthday it is, are encouraged to summon all their energies, resources, acumen and influence in a concentrated endeavor to take advantage of a sudden about-face of the fortunes, this being dynamic and far-reaching in its effect on future progress, happiness and accomplishment. Shrewd, decisive and well-executed plans and routines are bound to attract substantial support from high places. Most pleasant and profitable reactions should materialize in the private life, with adventure, romance.

A child born on this day should be excellently endowed with talents, character and personal influence for a career which will be dynamic and romantic to spectacular degree.

Walter Lippmann Speaks

Europe Given Warning By Vandenberg

"Until then I beg of you," said Senator Vandenberg, "that you give ECA a fair chance." Until when? Until "next January, when we shall know whereof we speak. When the second annual appropriation impends, we shall know what kind of job Administrator Hoffman and his staff are doing. We shall know to what extent self-help and mutual co-operation are meeting our expectations."

Though these words were part of Senator Vandenberg's appeal to Congress to honor a solemn commitment, they carry with them an urgent warning to the leading governments of Europe, and also to the President and the state department.

It is a warning that the continuation of ECA is not assured by the original authorization; nor will it be if the Martin-Taber raid is repulsed.

It is notice that "a general overhaul," as Senator Vandenberg put it—that is to say a general reconsideration of the basic policy—will be undertaken by the next administration and the next Congress.

It will be undertaken not merely by the enemies of ECA but by its strongest supporters—who will then "know to what extent self-help and mutual co-operation are meeting our expectations."

No doubt six months—for that is what it comes to—will seem like an exceedingly short time in which to prove that ECA should be continued.

But if the European governments, and particularly the British and French, make a serious effort to understand the real attitude of this country, they will know what kind of action on their part will in fact meet American "expectations."

They will find, I believe, that the key to the mystery is that while the European Recovery Program has been "justified" by a torrent of statistics, in fact this extraordinary enterprise, unique in the history of the world, will have to be justified by intangible, economic, political and moral results.

The American people hope, of course, that production will rise, that trade will increase, that inflation will be mastered, and that the balance of payments will be righted. But what they are really looking for are signs which they can take seriously that a new Europe is in the making.

SIGNS LACKING

It is because signs of that kind are lacking that even the first appropriation for ECA is in danger. For the Martin-Taber attack reflected not so much the strength of the opposition to the recovery program as it did the lack of strong conviction on the part of its supporters.

They were absent from the House in large numbers, and those who were present did not fight very effectively. Why? Because, so it seems to me, the governments in Europe and the state department here have deflated the hopes of the people

In the past few months they have seen "Western Union" degenerate into little more than an impotent military alliance. They have seen the United Nations maltreated. They have seen the British Labor government cold-shoulder the movement for European union. They have seen their own government invite the Russians to talk, and then unable to think of anything to say.

As a result, if they have not become isolationists, they are certainly disillusioned at the prospect of huge subsidies, huge armaments, and the draft, all at the expense of housing, health, education and internal development, with no progress toward a new and better international order.

The failure of the European governments and of the state department to promote the political unity of Europe and to uphold the authority of the United Nations has sapped the only foundation on which sustained American support of the recovery program could rest.

No doubt it required high statesmanship to put the program on a constructive foundation. It was much easier to put it across as a measure of the cold war, to depend on the fear of communism rather than on faith in a new democratic order.

But fear will not sustain a continuing effort. It will work for a few emergencies but not for four years. It is good for a sprint but not for a long run.

The Russians, once they are bright enough to realize that we are depending on their provocations to generate the steam to carry on, have only to stop being quite so irritating in order to reduce the pressure. Then, no longer frightened, but without a sustaining faith in place of their fears, the people's interest languishes. It is languishing now. That is where Martin and Taber saw their opportunity.

These are the imponderables, I think, which men like Attlee, Cripps and Bevin, Schumann, Rene Moyer and Bidault will do well to take very seriously if—six months hence when the ECA must undergo a more crucial test than the Martin-Taber affair—they intend to meet what Senator Vandenberg called American "expectations" about the extent of self-help and mutual co-operation in Europe.

It will not be good enough for them to complain about the uncertainty of American public opinion.

If they are fair about it, and also wise, they will recognize that what the American public is being asked to do is something which no people has ever before been asked to do, and that, therefore, this altogether unprecedented enterprise can be sustained only if they contribute to it not merely sweat and austerity but also audacity and faith.

Rare Hamburger's Rarity In U. S.; Customer Must Accept It 'As Is'

NEW YORK—That is all I said. I said to the guy, "I want a hamburger, rare. on roll, and a slice of pickle" and I didn't say anything about any sloppy slaw or old kitchen garbage so now look at this what you get with the bread all soppy and the hamburger cooked like a heel come off somebody's shoe. I said, "hamburger, rare, please," and that's all I said.

Like last week I pulled up at a place on 87 and it said on the sign behind the counter, "2 pork chops and French fries," so much, so I put a little bet on that number and they must have been cleaning out back there the way it come back.

They should have sent it to me in the bucket, not on a plate. Dirty old dead lettuce combed out of the sink or somewheres, and scraps of cabbage and tomato and some sour, yellow slop for mayonnaise swimming all over a couple of dumb pork chops like fishing something drowned out of a pond.

★

What is the matter, anyway, they keep throwing this mess at people when you tell them absolutely you want a hamburger so-and-so, whether it's rare, medium rare or hamburger well, but who said anything about cleaning out under the ice-box? What are they trying to save, the cost of the guy to come around with the collection? What am I, a scab or something, scabbing the job on the boys in the department of sanitation and garbage removal so they can lay off forty, fifty hard-working American citizens, trying to get me to eat it up for them instead, by dumping all that old dead slaw on a man's hamburger when you distinctly say, "I just want a hamburger, rare, with dill pickle."

Look at that, will you, look at that.

It don't make a particle of difference even if you tie a string around your finger so you remember to say, "and none of your sloppy old kitchen leavings, either, because I positively want just so-and-so," like whether it's a fried egg on white or ham-and-swiss on rye. Is there some kind of a new law you aren't allowed to eat a decent meal in the United States of America any more?

If you go into a department store and you say, "I want a suit of clothes, size 36, long in the pants, medium sleeves in a pin stripe," do they go back into the grab bag and haul out all the old rags and scraps from the alteration department and old stockings and drawers and throw them at you and say, "here is your pin stripe suit, the way we always serve it?"

And then do they say, "well, yes, maybe it is a 40 instead of a 36 like you ast for but that is our blue plate special for this week and if you don't like it well, where do you think you are, at the Park Lane or somewhere? Particular, aren't you?"

And then does the owner say you insulted the dizzy little dope of a crumpet—probably got her mind on a date with some bill of rights dancing student—because you take a look at the waist and you say, "madam, if you don't mind, this is a size forty pants and I asked for 36.

But with these bums a hamburger rare means whatever you get and if you don't like it, well, now, friend, just keep your nasty temper under control. Because, friend, it don't make no never mind with us whether you like it or you don't but that ain't going to give you any right to make free with our womanhood around these parts, stranger!

3 Boys Hurt In Traffic, Gas Fire

Child Struck By Car Near His Home

Three youthful Mansfielders, one of them an 18-months-old child, suffered injuries late yesterday and early today in three accidents. Two were hurt in traffic and the other in a fire. The injured were:

Gerald Alan Barr, 1½, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Barr, 546 Bowman street.

Robert Shoup, 19, of 483 Beethoven street.

Thomas Brittain, 14, of 324 Fair street.

The Barr baby suffered abrasions on the right side of his face and head when struck by a car driven by John Pierce, 291 West Third street.

The child's parents told police the boy started to run across Bowman street, approximately 75 feet north of Chester avenue, when Pierce's car, traveling north on Bowman, struck the child, throwing him to the pavement.

Police said the accident occurred at 5:45 p. m. Monday.

DRIVER CITED

Nearly two hours later, Pierce was arrested for operating a car while under the influence of alcohol after his car sideswiped four parked autos in the vicinity of 131 North Mulberry street. Police said the cars belonged to Mrs. Pearl Kinney, 304 Sheridan avenue; H. Cassel, 125½ North Mulberry street; C. R. Bartlett, 111 West Prospect street; and H. E. Otto, 13 West First street. Pierce was not held in connection with the boy's injuries.

Shoup, a passenger in a car driven by Kelmer H. Berry, Mansfield, R. D. 4, was treated at General hospital for injuries suffered when the car collided with a motorcycle driven by Henry D. Eckert of Lexington, at East Fourth street and Franklin avenue. Police said Berry pulled out in front of the motorcycle at the intersection at 4:30 p. m. yesterday.

Brittain suffered burns on his face at 12:53 a. m today when a spark from his father's auto ignited gasoline the youth was pouring into the carburator. Police said the father, Lester Brittain, attempted to start the car as the son was pouring the gasoline. Firemen from Central station were called to the scene to extinguish the fire which caused minor damage to the car.

Mansfielder Heads Boys' Highest Court

Thomas J. Swisher, Mansfield Senior high school student, found double reason for celebration today. He assumed his duties as "chief justice of the supreme court" at the twelfth annual Boys' State at Ohio Wesleyan university. He also is celebrating his seventeenth birthday.

He will head for the next seven days at Boys' State a supreme court made up exclusively of boys from the Mansfield area.

SWISHER

Elected to serve as associate justices were Ronald R. Myers of Galion and William M. Herlihy. All three were elected following a three-day political campaign. They ran on a non-partisan judiciary ticket. Jack O. Mason, 17-year-old Delaware high school student, was elected governor. Mason piled up 460 votes against 400 received by the opposing candidate, Charles D. Montgomery, 17, of Euclid.

Mason ran on the federalist ticket but the other party, the nationalist, polled the highest number of votes in electing Royce H. Baughns, Cleveland, as lieutenant governor with 473 votes.

Supreme Court Judge Charles B. Zimmerman administered the oath to the successful candidates Monday night.

850 AT 'STATE'

More than 850 Ohio high school juniors are attending this year's Boys' State. Herlihy is one of six from Shelby. The others are Kenneth Charles Souslin, Harold Leo Phillips, James Ethan Evans, David Laurence Heck and Carlos Franklin Tuckey.

In addition to Swisher, those who left from Mansfield were James Zehner, Springfield Township; Eugene Riblet and Fred Durig, Madison high; Donald Bender, Lexington; Benjamin Baith, Union Township; James Marshall and David Moore, St. Peter's; David Wappner, Lewis Winbigler, Thomas Owen, Charles Brown, Joseph Haring, Dick Butts and Richard Rohleder, all of Senior high, and John Stacey, Lucas.

A select group of Legionnaires from all over Ohio is helping the boys learn how government works on the local county and state levels.

A staff of 30 students of Ohio State and Ohio Wesleyan universities is serving as counselors.

Among speakers will be Gov. Thomas J. Herbert, Lt. Gov. Paul M. Herbert, Chief Justice Carl V. Weygant, Department Commander Aaron J. Halloran and representatives of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Sunday will be visitors' day at Boys' State.

Three Appointed To Rent Board

Appointment of three more members to the Mansfield rent control advisory board was confirmed today by Tighe Woods, federal housing expediter in Washington.

Named to the board on the recommendation of Mayor Roy W. Vaughn were Dean Dickerson, secretary and general manager of Frosted Foods, Inc.; Carl C. Kindt, salesman for Richland, Inc., and Virgil A. Stanfield, city editor of The News-Journal.

The new members will represent public services on the board.

Reading Club Still Open

Children may still participate in the vacation reading club of the Newman school branch library, Mrs. Russell Cline, librarian, announced today.

The branch library is open to both children and adults three days a week. Hours at the library are 1:30 to 4:30 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m. Monday and Wednesday, and 1 to 4:30 p. m. Friday.

Mrs. Cline said the library offers adults a wide variety of reading, including fiction, history, biography, and even cookbooks.

Judge at Workshop

Stuart H. Cramer, probate and juvenile court judge, left today for Kent, O., to attend the third annual court-school relationship workshop on the campus of Kent State university. The two-day meeting is sponsored by the Ohio Association of Juvenile Court Judges, the Ohio Probation and Parole association and the Ohio Education association.

MOWER STOLEN

L. E. Thompson, Springmill road west, reported to sheriff's deputies yesterday the theft of a power lawn mower from his farm yesterday.

Work to Start On Market

Construction will get under way next week on a 60-by-130-foot, one-floor supermarket at Cook road and Lexington avenue.

E. L. Evans, of 268 Sheridan avenue, and James George, builders of the new store, said the building would be constructed of glass block and brick. Interior walls will be of tile.

Completion of the modernistically-styled building is scheduled in four months. The Frank Beymer Construction company will erect the store.

Evans said the site of the grocery was a 135-by-250-foot lot and plenty of space will be available for parking.

Although several grocery firms are interested in the new building, it has not been decided who will operate the business, Evans said.

Union Calls Meeting

Westinghouse Offer To Be Discussed

A special Local 711, UE steward's meeting for the purpose of bringing a "true picture" of the Westinghouse wage offer "back to the workers" will be held at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday at CIO hall, 34½ South Park street, Joseph Hawkins, president of the union, said today.

Hawkins said this meeting probably will be followed by a mass membership meeting of Local 711 and Local 759 UE later in the week.

The six per cent wage offer, made by the company a week ago, has been turned down by the UE's national Westinghouse conference board. Hawkins said the six per cent was added to the guaranteed base rates from which the company proposed to deduct two and one-half per cent of the first $3,000 earned and five per cent of all earnings over $3,000. These amounts, he said, would be used by the company to finance the employes' personal share of the pension program.

Girl Scouts See Columbus

Twenty-one members of Girl Scout Troop 12 were given a tourist's view of their state capital yesterday when they visited points of interest in Columbus.

Accompanied by troop mothers, the girls were taken to the Ohio State university campus and through the university museum, after which they had luncheon at the Lazarus company store where they were given pointers on hair styling, makeup and good grooming.

In the afternoon they were guests at the governor's mansion where they were shown through the residence and the gardens. Then followed a trip to Port Columbus to witness the workings of the weather bureau, the control tower and the air traffic.

Accompanying the girls were Mrs. Kenneth Hague, Mrs. Scott Brown, Mrs. Ray Paulson, Mrs. Joseph Foncannon, Mrs. Ralph Baer and Mrs. Floyd Huff.

GYRO TO PICNIC

The Mansfield Gyro club members and their wives will meet Wednesday evening at the Garrison farm for a picnic supper. Harold Garrison will serve as committee chairman at the picnic meeting.

Up and Down the Street . . .

GOOD OR BAD?—

Sanchen, 7, and Bonnie Gene, 5, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Shoemaker, 189 Bartley avenue, had a big worry today. For two weeks they have worked to earn money for a new bicycle. They've operated a lemonade stand; gathered old papers. Sanchen has accumulated more than $2; Bonnie has $1.50. Sunday, trying to push their luck perhaps, they looked for four-leaf clovers in the front yard of the home of their grandfather, Weston Cutter, Route 603. They were elated when they found four four-leafers; their elation turned to doubt when Bonnie picked a five-leafer. Now they hope the "good luck" of the four-leafers will offset any "bad luck" a five-leafer might have.

Sewage Spilling Into Creek

Half of Refuse Being By-Passed

Mansfield soon may be ordered by the eight-state Ohio River Valley Water Sanitation compact to repair and rehabilitate its antiquated sanitary sewer system, a city official said today.

This organization, approved by congress, came into being June 1 when West Virginia signed the compact which is designed to control pollution of the Ohio river and its tributaries.

There are at least 32 places in the sanitary sewer system where raw sewage is being by-passed into the Rocky Fork because the sewer system is unable to handle the amount of sewage forced into the system, the official said.

Furthermore, it was learned that there are a number of breaks in the sewer system that are spilling raw sanitary sewage into the Rocky Fork and eventually into the Ohio river.

B. V. BeVier, city sanitary engineer, estimated that half of all the sewage that should pass through the sewage treatment plant for treatment is being lost through by-passes and breaks in the line.

URGE REHABILITATION

The only thing that can be done is to repair the breaks and generally rehabilitate the system, the city official said. Repeated requests by Mayor Roy W. Vaughn, who last year proposed a $500,000 bond issue to improve the system, and BeVier, who outlined a $1,000,000 ten-year program, have been side-tracked by city council.

Mansfield industries probably will be ordered to make some changes in their industrial waste disposal, the city spokesman said.

The eight-state compact is scheduled to make a study of the river and its tributaries, and to issue orders that will have the effect of law. It can compel cities to repair sewer systems that pollute the streams leading to the Ohio river and order the proper degree of treatment at the sewage plants.

Furthermore, it can order industrial plants that dump waste into the streams to treat it to whatever degree of purity the organization's engineers feel is necessary.

Weather Levels Off

The "unpredictable June weather" is leveling off, the weatherman said today, predicting fair and slightly cooler for Wednesday.

With fingers crossed and a hopeful gleam in his eye, the forecaster said the five-day outlook for the state looks pretty good.

Temperatures will average near normal through Saturday with warmer temperatures beginning Thursday and lasting through the week-end. Showers, however, may appear Thursday, late Friday or Saturday, with total rainfall near one-half inch in the north portion and three-quarters to one-inch in the south portion.

Faced with localized storms and changing wind directions across Lake Erie, weather bureau men have begun to think there's nothing "'so rare as a 'predictable' day in June."

It was cooler today in the city as the mercury climbed into the high 60's at noon. Yesterday's high was 76 degrees at 3:30 p. m.

Private's Body Being Returned

The body of Pvt. Clair E. Trumpower will be returned home tomorrow.

Pvt. Trumpower was killed in action in the North African area at the age of 21. He was serving with the infantry.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Violet Trumpower, and daughter, Sandra, both of Zanesville; two sisters, Mrs. Ruth Byerly and Miss Helen Trumpower, both of Lucas.

Rev. George Schrack will conduct graveside services at Greenlawn cemetery at 2 p. m. Thursday. The Veterans Committee of Loudonville will assist Rev. Schrack.

Jones Memorial will have charge of services.

Radio Club's Tests Show Readiness For Emergency

Members of the Intercity Radio club today proclaimed their Saturday and Sunday emergency tests a success. Despite local thunderstorms, they were able to contact west coast and Canadian stations.

Sponsored by the American Radio Relay league, the tests were designed to simulate as nearly as possible emergency operating conditions such as would be found in the event of a real disaster.

The Mansfield club set up its unit five miles north of this city on State Route 545. Designated as Station W8TAJ, the emergency unit was in operation from 4 p. m. Saturday until 4 p. m. Sunday.

James R. Anderson termed the tests "very successful," especially considering the conditions. The adverse weather gave the local "hams" a taste of real emergency operation.

Participating in the activities were Forest Dickman, Dick Mitchell, Jerry Overlander, Jim and Jack Hirres and Floyd Myers, all of the Ashland club; Howard Hershney and George Rheil, of the Galion club; and Edward Shaw, Harold Sherrick, and Elden Heck, of the Shelby club.

Egon Loeckel was the chief operator during the session while Adam Holzmiller was chief of operations. A. P. Miller, Jack Barr, Anderson, Jacob Erndt and Junior Hazlett represented the Mansfield organization.

Power for the unit was furnished by a generator donated by the Montgomery Ward Co.

Komito's and Sport Center Play Top Independent Tilt

Mansfield's well balanced Independent softball league standings may undergo a distinct change today at 6 p m

The league race could be straightened out a bit or it could be jumbled no end Cellar dwelling Ohio Sport Center is just one game back of the league-leading Komito's Clothes aggregation

So tonight these two clubs meet at North Lake park A Komito's victory would increase its first-place margin but a defeat would put the present leaders in a three-way tie for second

However the top game tonight could well be the Penn Auto-Sporting Goods joust with Greystone Nite club at Johns park The teams are knotted for the second spot with one win and one defeat apiece

American Legion Post 72 has a bye

★

Two games also are booked in the Girls league Ohio Brass battles Westinghouse at Liberty park and Lumbermen's goes against Tappan Stove at John Todd park

Ohio Brass and Tappan are tied for first place with two wins apiece

Joe Louis Has Held Heavy Title Longest Time: Corum Thinks Jersey Joe Will Battle Savage Foe

By BILL CORUM

POMPTON LAKES, N J —(INS)—A strapping, six-foot young man walked up to Joe Louis here the other day and handed him a snapshot It was a picture of Louis holding a little boy up in his arms

The champion studied the picture for a couple of minutes Then he had to give up

"What's the answer?" he asked the grinning youngster

"That's you and me in this same spot 13 years ago" explained the lad "Now, if you say the word, I'll pick you up and we'll have another one taken"

The story is told to illustrate that Joe Louis has been around the boxing business longer than most of us would think if we didn't stop to think carefully

When he fights Joe Walcott in the Yankee stadium on June 23 Louis will have been the world's heavyweight champion for 11 years and one day

Nobody else ever wore boxing's golden crown that long Nobody ever defended it more often Or met all comers more willingly Or wore it with greater dignity and sincerity Or with greater pride

Joe is proud and as straightforwardly and completely honest as any man I've ever met It's impossible to talk with him and not realize that

He never evades the question Nor does he dress up his answers in an effort to please

Managers and trainers might do something to alibi or gloss over the worst showing he had ever made in a ring since he was an amateur Louis wouldn't

It has been claimed that Joe's starting to climb through the ropes to leave the ring before the decision was announced that night offered positive proof that he knew he had been beaten

My feeling is that even if he had known in advance that he still was going to get the decision that he might have done exactly what he did do That he was so humiliated so mad at Joe Louis that he wasn't thinking about the decision or Walcott or the title

Even the fact that he eked out a hotly disputed decision that saved his championship meant next to nothing to him at the moment He knew he had fought a stupid and bad fight His pride in his standing as one of the great ring men of all time and his craftsmanship had been rudely jolted

It is my conviction that Walcott is going to be facing the nearest thing to the savage and determined Louis that fought Max Schmeling the second time as the Louis of 34 can make himself

Whether that still will be good enough is obviously another matter

Balloting Starts Today For Big League All-Stars

By CHARLES EINSTEIN

CHICAGO—(INS)—Choice of performers for major league baseball's 15th annual all-star spectacle will once again be put to public vote this year

Balloting begins today via 439 polling centers and by the time the machines close July 5 a record vote—at least two and a half million—will probably have been recorded

In addition the two major leagues will strew 800,000 ballots among the customers in their ball parks Forty-seven states and the District of Columbia have at least one polling organ actively interested in what goes on

PUBLIC CHOOSES

As was done last year when the electoral system was formally reinstated after a decade of having the baseball managers do the picking the public will choose all but the all-star managers and pitchers

The managers by tradition are those two fellows who led their respective clubs into the World Series the season previous

This is fine as far as concerns Bucky Harris of the world champion New York Yankees but of course Burt Shotton the silent transient who led the Dodgers to the National league flag in 1947 during Leo Durocher's exile won't be around Durocher back as official Brooklyn pilot, will guide the National leaguers

The American league won the 1947 encounter 2 to 1 The winners urged their two runs around the paths with all the speed and verve of a glass blower while the Nationals lone run resulted from the most becoming hit of the ball game—big cat John Mize's 384-foot deposit into the right field seats

MUST PLAY THERE

As last year the rules state each player selected by the fans to start the game must stick around for a minimum of three innings Pitchers who'll be chosen by the managers may not tarry more than three innings save in the case of a starter who's allowed no hits or somebody who's on the mound when a game goes into extra innings

The voting ends officially eight days before the all star game at Sportsman's Park St Louis July 13 The game last year was at Wrigley Field Chicago home of the National league Cubs so this year the American league St Louis Browns have been designated as the host contingent

N-J All-Star Ballot

This ballot or a facsimile may be used to vote for the all star major league teams which will meet in St Louis July 13 The Mansfield ballots will be tabulated daily and forwarded to the Chicago Tribune voting headquarters Just send the completed ballot to The News Journal sports department Pitchers will be picked by the team managers
